

Temporary closure of The Timble Inn due to the Coronavirus outbreak

You will all be very much aware of the crisis the country is currently facing in light of the Coronavirus outbreak.

Following the Government's announcement requesting people to stop socialising at pubs, clubs, theatres, restaurants and other such social meeting places, we had today taken the decision with heavy hearts to close the Timble Inn with effect from Monday 23rd March 2020 but planned to stay open this weekend to avoid disappointing our customers who still very much wanted to celebrate Mothers Day with their close family.

Unfortunately due to the Government's announcement today, we have had to bring forward our closure and will now be closed from Saturday 21st March 12:00 until further notice.

Whilst this is the very last thing we wish to do, we all have to act responsibly to protect the health of both our staff and all our customers and to minimise contact with large groups of people. Like many of you, we had hoped to "keep calm and carry on" but sadly this is no longer an available option to us.

Things are moving apace with this situation and we will be continuously monitoring for any changes which will affect our approach so please keep checking our website and social media for any new information.

For existing restaurant & room bookings we will be contacting customers on a week by week basis to cancel bookings. All payments made will be either refunded or carried forward to a future date. Should you have any queries or concerns we will still be accessing emails and responding to telephone messages after 21st March 2020 although these may take a little longer than usual to be dealt with.

In the meantime, we wish to thank all our loyal customers, staff and suppliers for their cooperation and understanding during this difficult and unprecedented time. Keep safe, stay positive and we look forward to seeing you all again in happier times to come.

With warmest regards,

Mike Stainsby Owner
